Sectors & Industries

Schellenberg Wittmer's Life Sciences Group is a leading industry practice for dispute resolution, transactional work and regulatory matters in the field of life sciences. We advise and represent companies from a variety of sectors, including pharmaceuticals, biotechnological products, medical devices and equipment, diagnostics and personalized medicine, cosmetics, and food processing and beverages, including novel food.

Expertise

Schellenberg Wittmer's Life Sciences Group has broad expertise in representing life sciences clients in complex international disputes and in advising on commercial and contractual matters, such as complex licensing deals, cooperation and research agreements, distribution and supply chain matters, joint ventures, and M&A transactions. Additionally, we provide guidance in regulatory and advertising matters and advise on processing and use of data, data protection, compliance and investigations, e-health, software and mobile medical applications, and competition law.

Litigation/Arbitration

We represent clients in administrative, litigation, arbitration and mediation proceedings over a broad range of issues, including:

- Enforcement, entitlement, validity and infringement of patents, SPCs, know-how, trade secrets, data and databases and other proprietary rights
- Disputes arising from licensing, supply and manufacturing, distribution, non-disclosure, R&D and cooperation agreements, technology transfers, and clinical trials
- Product liability defense and product recall matters

Corporate and Commercial
